FROM SPRINGVILLE.

SPRINGVILLE, Sept. 19, 1899.

Forest Rangers Andrew Hansen and Joe Pierce have been in town for provisions.

Mr. Hansen is a prominent young man from Navajo county and has been assigned to duty as Forest ranger. His headquarters being at Greer, Apache county.

We are informed that these two rangers are going to blaze a line along the north line of the reserve, six miles south of Springerville, so the people of this section of the country may know where the lines are, and thus preventing timber trespass on the reserve.

We believe these government employees are doubly paying the government for their services in preventing timber trespass on the reserve. Before they came in here many squatters, as well as bona fide settlers, were wantonly destroying timber by pasture making, fences, building and cutting the bark around trees, killing them and enabling them to remove such timber off the land.

Many settlers have cleared lands, with the intention of farming a year or two, and destroyed much timber, and have not had the slightest intention of homesteading or securing title to such lands.

Joe Pierce was asked what he thought would be done in regard to the removing of the mining timber on the Blue. Mr. Pierce states that he has not yet received information from the department in regard to that matter.

It came by telegram from Washington and on September 12th., in the afternoon, they gave a farewell smoker to Troop "E", their comrades, and friends at the post.

Speeches were made, and wine made happy the hearts of those invited. On the following day they departed for Jefferson Barracks to report to the commanding officer of their regiment.

Colonel Wells has left the post on a leave of absence of two months, in the meantime Captain Coles of Troop "E" has taken charge of the affairs at the post. PROPOSED RAILROADS IN ARIZONA.

Sept 15th., was the last day in which the exemption benefits of Act 68 of the Twentieth Legislative Assembly could be taken advantage of by persons who wanted to construct railroads. It was necessary in order to be benefited by this act to file within six months after the passage, a notice of intention with the secretary of the territory.

If the following list of railroads of which intentions have been filed is carried into effect, Arizona will be a railroad center:

From Ray mine near Riverside to Red Rock in Pinal county, by H. P. Winslow.

From Ray mine to Casa Grande, by H. P. Winslow.

From Ray mine to Florence and thence to Mesa, by H. P. Winslow.

From Ray mine to San Carlos, by H. P. Winslow.

From Ray mine to the Buttes, by H. P. Winslow.

From Ray mine to Tucson, by H. P. Winslow.

From Ray mine to Picacho, by H. P. Winslow.

From near Kingman to Chloride, Mohave county, and ultimately to White Hills Colorado, by S. B. McConnell, vice-president and general manager of the Arizona and Utah R. R. company.

From Flagstaff to the Verde mining district, by Ralph Dillon.

From Williams to the Grand Canyon, by Lowry W. Goode, president of the Santa Fe and Grand Canyon R. R. company.

From Globe to Phoenix, by Thos. E. Coloney.

From Phoenix to Sentinel, Phoenix to Solomonville and branch to Railroad Pass in Cochise county, by C. F. Ainsworth.

From Tucson to Arivaca, by Frank H. Hereford.

From Ehrenberg to Fort Defiance and from Los Angeles to Chicago, by A. J. Daggs.

From Seligman to the Eureka mining district, by Homer R. Wood.

From Flagstaff to Globe and Jerome, by David Babbitt.

From Prescott to Bower's ranch, Crown King, by H. D. Stocker, S. B. Howard and Henry T. Andrews.

The most important declaration was one by Dr. J. M. Ford, representing local and eastern capitalists, and describing a proposed enterprise with ramifications through nearly every important copper district in the territory.

It is twenty-six inch gauge railroad system of about 800 miles, consisting of three lines, one from Phoenix to the copper regions of the Grand Canyon via Jerome, another from Phoenix to Globe, Clifton and Morenci, and the third from Phoenix in a southwesterly direction to Gila Bend, the Ajo mining district and Quitova on the Mexican line. Another from Ajo via Magdalena to Bisbee.

That is all of the system described in the declaration of intention, but the most important feature of the project is the extension of the road fifty-three miles farther to a harbor on the Gulf of California,—Phoenix Enterprise.
